

BrightTV Subscriber Growth Dashboard

Viewer profiles and viewership transactions analysed to show where the audience already is, where engagement leaks, and which segments the CVM team should target to grow the subscription base this financial year. Built on the BrightTV dataset: 10 000 transactions, 4 386 subscribers.

SUBSCRIBERS

4 386

Unique Sub_IDs in dataset

ACTIVE VIEWERS

3 364

77% of base watched

DORMANT

1 022

Under 1 min total watch time

WATCH HOURS

1 523

10 000 sessions

AVG SESSION

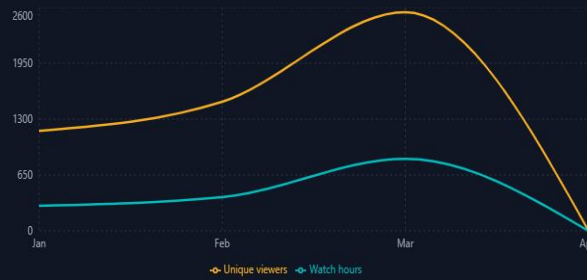

9.1 min

Top: ICC Cricket World Cup 2011

Viewership trend

Unique viewers and watch hours per month (2016)

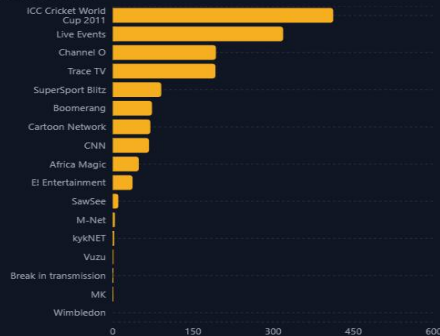

Gender split

Share of viewing transactions

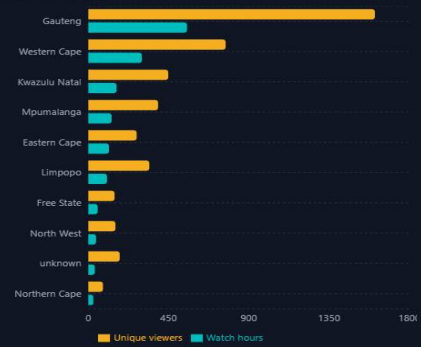

Channel performance

Watch hours by channel

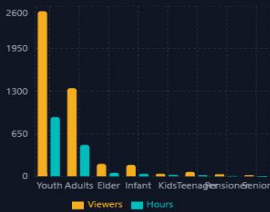

Provincial reach

Unique viewers vs watch hours

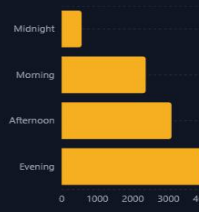

Age groups

Viewers and watch hours

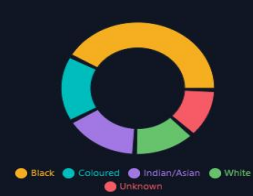

Day-part demand

Sessions by viewing window

Ethnicity mix

Share of viewing transactions

Activate Windows
Go to Settings to activate Windows.

Hourly demand

Sessions by hour of day

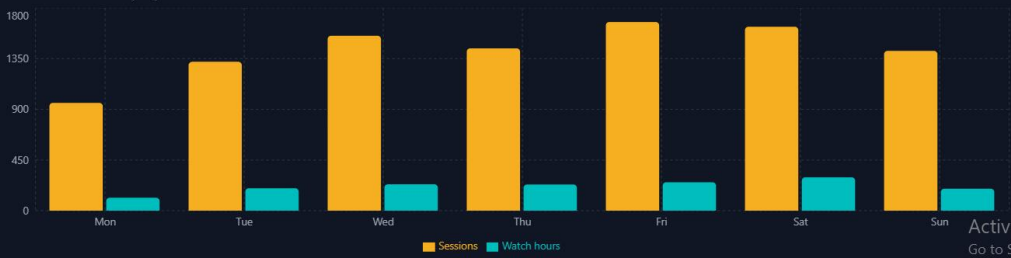

Session quality

Screen-time buckets

Day of week

Sessions and watch hours by day

CVM segments

Subscribers grouped by total viewing minutes

Segment	Users	Share	Watch hours
Champions	422	10%	876,9
Loyal	393	9%	276,1
Casual	1 367	31%	314,2
Light	1 182	27%	50,1
No usage	1 022	23%	5,7

Recommendations for CVM

Where the growth is

Win back dormant users. 1 022 subscribers (23% of the base) log under a minute of total watch time, and 6 918 of 10 000 sessions fall in the "No Usage" bucket — the cheapest subscription upside. Run a re-activation journey with a free weekend.

Bundle around the hero channel. ICC Cricket World Cup 2011 drives 412,1 watch hours. Use it as the anchor of the paid tier and cross-promote weaker channels in its ad breaks.

Concentrate spend geographically. Gauteng delivers 1 607 viewers. Province-targeted data-bundle offers convert faster than national campaigns.

Sell the primetime habit. 40% of sessions land in the evening window — price and message subscriptions around it, and use midnight inventory for trial offers. Weekdays carry 69% of all sessions.

Protect at-risk viewers. Low-minute users churn first; trigger content-recommendation nudges once weekly viewing drops below their 4-week average.